

Shigemi Nakagawa is Professor Emeritus of Ritsumeikan University in modern Japanese literature and has been a visiting professor at Stanford University, The University of Social Sciences and Humanities, Vietnam, and l'Université de Paris. He is author of Katarikakeru kioku: Bungaku to jendā sutadīzu (Conveying memory: literature and gender studies) and Sensō o yomu: 70 satsu no kenkyū (Reading the war: a study of seventy novels) among other works.